A special performance by the Mizzou ADVANCE Interactive Theater Troupe

Interactive Theatre

This performance is sponsored by the Mizzou ADVANCE Interactive Theatre program. Cast members of “Foie Gras” include actors from the MU Theatre Department as well as faculty, staff, community, and professional actors. For more information on the theatre troupe or to schedule a performance, please contact program chair Suzanne Burgoyne.

Following its well-received play “A Knock at the Door,” the Mizzou ADVANCE Interactive Theatre Troupe is back with a new play, “Foie Gras.”

“Foie Gras” portrays a woman associate professor contemplating coming up for promotion to professor and the feedback she receives from her mentor and department chair.

Since its first performance in Spring 2008, the theatre troupe has explored gender dynamics among senior faculty. The troupe engages the audience in a facilitated discussion to create dialogue about gender equity issues.
